Gillette Carnival celebrates successful year at the Otsego County Fair

ZACHARY MESECK
THE GAZETTE

MORRIS – Coming to a close, this year's Otsego County Fair was a successful one for the Gillette Carnival with officials citing great weather and customer turnout as a contributing factor.

Gillette Carnival is a family owned and operated organization that is tasked with maintaining, operating, and upgrading the equipment used on the carnival side of fairs around the United States.

According to owner family member and worker Rachel Gillette, working for a carnival is like being part of a traveling community.

"It's kind of nice because at the end of the day it's like being a part of a big support group," said Gillette. "We're all in this together, we have each other to fall back on when things get tough, and it's nice to have people we can rely on."

She said some family members have been part of the carnival for their entire lives, and plan on continuing the tradition for years to come.

"I was born into it, my grampa started the business years ago and ever since I was little I've wanted to help out," said Gillette.

Gillette is a 19-year-old who has been working in her family's carnival for over six years, and has recently begun attending college to become a veterinarian. Even with a college education, she is considering staying with the carnival because of the impact it has had on her life.

She said every year they tend to hire the same people, and the carnival travels all over New York, Maine, Massachusetts, and New Hampshire to make a living. She added after expenses, that carnivals may not make as much money as people expect.

"Unfortunately we don't live in mansions," she said. "People always seem to think that carnivals make a ton of money, but after you take into consideration the costs of hiring people, or moving and maintaining all of the equipment – there isn't that much left over."

In a prior interview Gillette Carnival Owner Betty Gillette said while owning the carnival has been challenging, it is a rewarding experience that has brought together family members for generations.

"Now that I've gathered a decent amount of equipment, I'm pretty confident I'll be doing this for the rest of my life," said Betty Gillette.

She said it makes her happy to know people of all ages can come to the Otsego County Fair and enjoy her carnival, and she looks forward to attending it for years to come.

Young duo captures 61st CCC Member-Guest

Johnson and Barney capture 61st Annual Member-Guest with 16-under final score

MEGAN SCHULZ
THE GAZETTE

NORWICH – The youngest team in the 61st Annual Canasawacta Country Club tournament field captured the Masters Flight after shooting back-to-back 7-under-par rounds to lead heading into the final round Saturday afternoon.

Club member Ryan Johnson and guest Nick Barney, teammates at LeMoyne College, went into the final 18-holes of the tournament with a five stroke lead over second place teams Bryan Smith-Brian Loomis and Matt Burrell-Craig Dawson.

As long as the duo didn't have a horrible round, their chances after Friday's second round were pretty strong after repeating their performance from Thursday's opening round, shooting a 64 both days.

Tim Carson, Canasawacta Country Club General Manager and tournament participant said while it was not the lowest round the course has witnessed in the member-guest weekend, it is the lowest the tournament has seen in quite some time.

The lowest round scored during the tournament was a 63.

Johnson and Barney started Friday's round out just like they did the day before, up and down. Johnson's shot on hole number nine was over the green and into the woods on the back side but Barney was able to put the score on the card for them at a birdie.

Their playing partners, Jeff Johnson and Denny Mirabito said during the round, the duo were playing well but they needed to string together something in order to come close to what they shot Thursday morning.

Well they did just that. The two scored seven birdies and two eagles during the second round to record the 7-under 64, giving them a total of 128 (14-under) with one round remaining.

Burrell and Dawson, who turned in a 65 on day one, finished another round below par on Friday as they shot a 68 to end the first two rounds with a 133 (9-under). Smith and Loomis flipped scores with Burrell and Dawson, shooting a second-round score of 65 after coming in with a 68 Thursday afternoon for the second-place tie.

Burrell and Dawson stayed at a round of 2-under through 14 holes during Saturday's final round as they attempted to make a push at the leaders. Their pairing partners, Bob Adsit and Dave Cappadonia – who were three strokes back before the last round – came out of no where, shooting a 6-under-par score through 14 to put some pressure on the leaders.

Johnson and Barney, who were 2-under after the 14th, started to realize they were even closer to the title at this point.

"It was about the 15th tee box that I knew as long as we didn't have a meltdown, we had a really good shot," said Johnson.

The leaders birdied 15, bumping them to 3-under for the round. They however, went right back to 2-under after scoring a bogey on 16. With two holes left and a pretty large lead, the duo played the remainder of the course on the safe side.

Smith and Loomis turned in a 1-over for the round, finishing fourth. Burrell and Dawson ended the round with an even-par score to place third overall while Adsit and Cappadonia shot a round best 66 (5-under) to come in second.

"It feels great to win the member-guest title," said Johnson. "I have played golf for a long time and have always had my eye on winning ever since I was little. Now, it just doesn't seem real."

"We put together two great rounds the first two days," said Barney, a first-time player in the tournament. "We finished easy to win and it's an awesome feeling. This is a great tournament because it's a great course with tough competition. I'm already looking forward to coming back next year."

Pin placement was again the chatter between rounds, with most golfers letting others know holes 7 and 14 were going to be very tough.

"While they were tough," Carson said, "they were playable. Steve Porack, our course superintendent, did a great job with tee and pin placement this year. I really enjoyed what he did and while many didn't, they know it was new and different, which is what this tournament needed."

"The course was in great shape," said Johnson. "The pins were tough but again playable. It reminded me of one of the courses we play on at LeMoyne."

The 62nd Annual Member-Guest is already on the books for the first weekend in August of 2020.

Hotel taxes one step closer to Chenango County

SHAWN MAGRATH
THE GAZETTE

NORWICH – With a proposed measure recently passed by both houses of the state legislature, Chenango County lawmakers are one step closer to imposing an additional tax on hotel rooms across the county.

Members of the County Board of Supervisors contentiously adopted a resolution in February requesting New York State approval of home rule legislation that would enact the local tax. If signed by the governor, the proposal would mandate a fee of up to 4 percent on hotel, motel and bed and breakfast rooms county-wide.

Supporters say money collected from the labeled "bed tax" may provide some relief to property taxpayers, and having it gleaned from out-of-towners would pay most – if not all – fees that the county currently pays to Commerce Chenango to promote local tourism.

According to the Chenango County Treasurer's Office, average costs of hotel and motel rooms is roughly $70 per night (potentially higher depending on time of year and events happening), which means the county could muster an additional $125,000 annually.

Nevertheless, opponents argue a bed tax is just one more in a slew of rising taxes that discourage people from coming to New York. Supervisor Michael Khoury (R-Smyrna) fought against the proposal, saying that county officials should get more input from the business community before moving forward.

Only five supervisors ultimately voted against the measure including those from Smyrna, Oxford, Smithville, Otselic, and German.

The proposal was introduced to the New York State Senate and Assembly in March by local assemblyman Clifford Crouch and Senator James Seward. In June, county officials were notified by Crouch that the proposal passed both legislative bodies and is now waiting to be signed by the governor. Once signed, the county would then be required to hold a public hearing to adopt the proposal as a local law.

"My office usually gets notification from the governor's office once he has signed the legislation into law," Crouch wrote in a letter to the Chenango County Board of Supervisors. "I will then follow up with you and inform you of such enactment. I, along with Senator Seward, am pleased that we could assist in this vital matter."

County officials believe a tax, if approved by the governor, won't be put into effect until 2020.

Swamp

Local Wetlands: A Unique Ecology

A few decades ago the term “wetland” did not exist. Instead those Susquehanna and Unadilla river land areas saturated with water were called marshes, swamps, fens, bogs, or even meadows. Today wetlands is a distinct ecological term and represents a distinct and unique ecosystem. The primary factor that distinguishes wetlands from other land or water bodies are the characteristic vegetation of aquatic plants, specially adapted to the unique hydric soil

So, what are wetlands any why are they important?

A wetland is a land area that is saturated with water, either permanently or seasonally, such that it takes on the characteristics of a distinct ecosystem. The primary factor that distinguishes wetlands from other land forms or water bodies is the characteristic and unique vegetation of aquatic plants, adapted to the specialized hydric soil. Wetlands play a number of roles in the environment, principally water purification, flood control, carbon sink and shoreline stability. Wetlands are also considered the MOST biologically diverse of all ecosystems, serving as home to a wide range of plant and animal life.

Wetlands occur naturally on every continent except Antarctica the largest including the Amazon River basin, the West Siberian Plain, and the Pantanal in South America. The water found in wetlands can be freshwater, brackish, or saltwater. The main wetland types include swamps, marshes, bogs, and fens, and sub-types include mangrove, carr, pocosin, and varzea.

Wetlands are commonly found in the Susquehanna River basin and locally in the Unadilla River and Wharton Creek. Prominent wetlands are located south of New Berlin at the old Riverband Golf Course west of NYS 8. The naturally occurring wetland has been purchased by The Wetland Trust a privately owned corporation. The Trust is a 501(C)3 nonprofit corporation organized in 2008 to restore, conserve and protect wetland biota, functions and values. The Trust’s Board Members represents academia, local government, local land owners, regional planners, and a multitude of partners, dedicated to enhance wetland-related efforts. In 2017 the Trust owned and operated over 1,400 acres and protectst property in eleven counties in New York.

Fen

Another wetland less visible to local conservationists is the Wharton Creek swamp located behind the Hoboken Dam one mile east of New Berlin on NYS 80. The swamp is bisected by the former UVRR railroad bed between New Berlin and Edmeston. The swamp is privately owned and the railroad bed is abandoned but now serves as the William Quinn Beardslee Memorial Conservation Trail. The privately owned trail is approximately 3000 feet long and affords hikers a combination of forest, wetland, and dryland ecosystems.

Why Are Wetlands Valuable?

For many years, people did not recognize the many diverse benefits and values of wetlands. Consequently, New York has lost almost half of its historic wetlands to such activities as filling and draining. However, wetlands are valuable to the people and environment of New York State. Some of the functions and benefits that wetlands perform include:

Flood and Storm Water Control

Wetlands provide critical flood and stormwater control functions. They absorb, store, and slow down the movement of rain and melt water, minimizing flooding and stabilizing water flow.

Surface and Groundwater Protection

Wetlands often serve as groundwater discharge sites; maintaining base flow in streams and rivers; and supporting ponds and lakes. In some places, wetlands are very important in recharging groundwater supplies.

Erosion Control

Wetlands slow water velocity and filter sediments, protecting streams, lakes, reservoirs and navigational channels.

Pollution Treatment and Nutrient Cycling

Wetlands cleanse water by filtering out natural and many man-made pollutants, which are then broken down or immobilized. In wetlands, organic materials are also broken down and recycled back into the environment, where they support the food chain.

Fish and Wildlife Habitat.

Wetlands are one of the most productive habitats for feeding, nesting, spawning, resting and cover for fish and wildlife, including many rare and endangered species.

Public Enjoyment

Wetlands provide areas for recreation, education and research. They also provide valuable open space, especially in developing areas whee they may be the only green space remaining

Gavin Dygert from Canajoharie, NY!

Gavin is a 13 year old boy who was born with Hypoplastic Left Heart Syndrome, essentially "half a heart". He underwent his first open heart surgery at 6 days old to "re-wire" his circulatory system. At 6 months old he went in for his second heart surgery. His final open heart surgery was when he was just two years old. Despite all of that, Gavin is a regular 13 year old kid! He races wing champ karts for WCRS and is a natural! His TRUE LOVE is dirt bikes and atvs but sadly he is unable to race motocross as it would physically be too exhausting and dangerous for him. We are HONORED to dedicate this race to Gavin where he will be able to meet pro racers and have a great evening of local motocross excitement! A portion of the gate fees and 50/50 will be donated directly to Gavin. Join our mission by coming out to show your support on August 8th! See you there!

CHENANGO

Visit Chenango County, Where Adventure Awaits!

Welcome to Chenango County! This is your destination in Upstate New York for outdoor adventure, arts and music, sports and recreation, history, and more! From classic cars and vibrant arts, to outdoor adventure and agri-tourism, you'll find the perfect blend of upstate countryside and creativity in Chenango County.

A strong local tradition of supporting the arts makes Chenango County the perfect destination if you seek music, visual art and theater. Each summer, nationally recognized arts and music festivals draw thousands to see emerging and established performers, artisans, poets and more for family-friendly summer weekends. Community theater groups and Chenango River Theater, the region's only professional theater company, delight and inspire on the stage with shows throughout the year. And whether you prefer the blues, rock-n-roll, country, bluegrass or folk music, you won't want to miss taking in a concert at one of Chenango County's venues.

For outdoorsy visitors, 'the land of the bullthistle' is the perfect spot to enjoy peaceful rivers, rolling hills, beautiful vistas and a plethora of outdoor activities. Outstanding fishing can be found along the Chenango, Unadilla, and Susquehanna Rivers as well as at Bowman Lake, Genegantslet Creek, Gaius Cook Park, and Millbrook Reservoir, just to name a few. Camping, hiking, and picnicking are abundant at both state- and privately-operated campgrounds, area parks, and picturesque lakes. Chenango County snowmobiling trails for some of the best in the state and are maintained by several clubs throughout the area. Other outdoor activities include visits to Rogers Environmental Education Center and Wolf Mountain Nature Center, golfing, and canoeing.

If locally-made and farm-fresh goods are what you seek, Chenango County is the perfect place to "Buy Local." You can shop for unique treasures made here in Norwich, Oxford, Sherburne, New Berlin, Greene, Afton, Bainbridge and the surrounding towns and villages. Artisans, designers, cooks, bakers and more help build a vibrant community right here at home. Agri-tourism is popular in Chenango, and as a part of the 10-county CNYFresh Trail, we offer farmers markets and farm stands with local fruits and vegetables, nuts, honey, seasonal offerings, maple syrup, and dairy. Locally made wine can be found at Black Bear Winery near the southern end of Chenango County, while up in the northern part of the County, the Bullthistle Brewing Company creates craft beers that have developed a large and devoted following.

Stop and get your tourism information, including state, county and trail maps, at Commerce Chenango at 15 South Broad Street in Norwich during normal business hours and at a variety of "satellite" locations throughout the County, or by calling 607-334-1400. electrifying dose of Chicago electric blues. The New York Central Mutual Free Friday show will feature Rick Estrin and the Nightcats, another Entertainer of the Year winner. There are great food and craft vendors, free children's activities and on-site camping available at the Chenango County Fairgrounds. This year's festival will take place on August 16th and 17th.

The NBT Free Thursdays kick off on July 11th, and the fun doesn't stop until the last show set for August 29th. You can hear national touring artists playing everything from zydeco to jam band, from reggae to bluegrass. A big highlight of the season will be an appearance by The Travelin McCourys on August 22nd. As good as that show promises to be, you may as well circle Thursdays on your calendar all summer long as you can't go wrong with any of these shows. Gather up your family and friends, grab the lawn chairs and blankets and head down to East Side Park to make some memories. There are lots of downtown restaurants, there are food vendors on-site and Park Place has a large beer garden on the park for those so inclined. The all-volunteer run Chenango Blues Association organizes all these events, and they would like to gratefully acknowledge NBT Bank as the corporate sponsor and the Greater Norwich and R. C. Smith Foundations for their invaluable support. The Thursday shows are also made possible in part by funds from the Chenango County Council of the Arts and their Decentralization grant program.

For further information on the Chenango Blues Association and all their shows please visit their website at chenangobluesfest.org

In 2019 Colourscape Chenango, the premier arts festival in Central New York, is celebrating a quarter century of bringing fine art, musical performances, literary arts, and family fun to the picturesque East and West Parks in the center of Norwich.

Over the past 25 years, Colourscape has become a favorite event for people across the region, with crowds reaching 11,000 in 2018. Set in the rolling hills of Chenango County, the natural beauty of the area is the perfect backdrop for this popular event. Appealing to art collectors, music lovers and families alike, Colourscape's many activities include artist demonstrations, live music, performance poetry, dance, student art shows, and interactive experiences for visitors of all ages.

The art at Colourscape is outstanding. Recognized as one of the top 200 fine arts and crafts festivals in the country by Sunshine Artists Magazine, Colourscape features over 120 juried artists and crafters displaying and selling their paintings, sculptures, fabric art, fine crafts, photography and more. Colourscape's many fans return year after year to see their favorite artists' latest creations, or to discover something new. From affordable treasures to investment pieces, shoppers can find handmade gifts, wearable art, display art and any number of creations to add to a growing art collection.

Music is also an integral part of the Colourscape experience. The free, two-day festival offers nationally renowned musical performers, covering a range of styles including celtic, jazz, gospel, bluegrass, a cappella, rock n' roll, and acoustical performances. The main stage headliners always deliver show-stopping performances... all of which visitors can enjoy with no admission fee. Sit down and listen, stand up and dance, or wander the rows of artist tents with the live music in the background.

Colourscape is an experience not to be missed, and this 25th anniversary year promises to be a thrilling one. Special anniversary events will be featured at this year's festival. Watch for upcoming announcements about Colourscape's nationally recognized headlining musicians and performance poet coming soon.

The 2019 Colourscape will be held September 7-8, rain or shine, in East and West Parks in Norwich. For more information, contact us: Colourscape Chenango Arts Festival, P.O. Box 624, Norwich, NY 13815 or call 607-336-FEST.

Big name in Christian music to take the stage at Chenango County Fair

The contemporary Christian rock band Sidewalk Prophets will headline the Chenango County Fair at 7 p.m. Friday, Aug. 9.

THE GAZETTE

NORWICH – A big name in contemporary Christian music will take the spotlight at the Chenango County fairgrounds this year, bringing with it a mix of uplifting worship and alternative rock to the local stage.

Calvary Baptist Church and CV Free Church in Norwich have teamed up to add the Christian performing group Sidewalk Prophets to the 2019 Chenango County Fair concert lineup. The band will perform at 7 p.m. Friday, Aug. 9. Event organizers it's a chance to give a positive experience to concertgoers while sharing Godly encouragement.

"Because we live in a rural area, people looking to enjoy Christian music and live concerts typically have to drive quite a distance to attend any of these events," said event co-organizer Tina Lindridge. "Since [Sidewalk Prophets] are a bigger name in the music business, we expect their gifts and talents, their knowledge and experiences to lend a positive experience for all who attend."

Sidewalk Prophets have steadily gained traction in the Christian music scene since releasing their first independent album in 2003. In 2007, the group scored a hit with the release of "These Simple Truths" which featured the song "The Words I Would Say." The album was lauded in the Christian music industry and led to the band's nod for a 2010 GMA Dove Award for New Artist of the Year.

The group continued success with the 2012 album release of "Live Like That," and more recently "Something Different" in 2015.

In all, Sidewalk Prophet touts five No. 1 hits and eight top-five songs, including "You Love Me Anyway," "Help Me Find It," and "Live Like That."

"This is an awesome experience and opportunity for our community to hear the word of God and have a concert here of this magnitude," said event co-organizer Jim Potter. "We're hoping for a big turnout. Ticket sales are going well. Ideally we would like to fill the place."

The upcoming concert marks a first for Christian Baptist and CV Free churches which have each previously worked alone to bring Christian music to the Norwich area. In past years, Christian Baptist has attracted headliners including Unspoken and Finding Favour.

But the opportunity to work side-by-side creates a new dynamic, says Lindridge.

"In the past, the goal of hosting Christian concerts was to reach people's hearts with the encouragement that comes from Christian music," she said. "The Bible emphasizes the importance of spending time with other Christians and surrounding ourselves with people that can provide Godly advice, that help keep us in check, encourage and love us ... By having churches work together on this concert, we are building those connections and support systems that God wants for us. The bond of churches growing together is far stronger than each of our churches standing alone."

Tickets for Sidewalk Prophets can be found online at calvary-baptist-church.ticketleap.com, or purchased at the door the night of the event.

A DEEPER LOOK AT THE Yangtze River

What do you get when you cross the Yangtze River with a ferry? To the other side.

How did the Yangtze River feel after it reached the ocean? Drained.

This cartoon is long and boring.

I flow best when I'm singing the blues.

The Yangtze River is known as "Chang Jiang" in China. The name translates to "long river."

Where does the Yangtze keep its money? In a riverbank.

The Yangtze River is home to a wide variety of wildlife, including several rare and endangered animals such as the Chinese alligator, the finless porpoise and the Chinese paddlefish.

The drainage basin of the Yangtze River covers about 20 percent of China.

About half of China's crop production comes from the Yangtze River basin. The basin produces about 70 percent of China's rice crop along with barley, beans, corn, cotton, hemp and wheat.

The Three Gorges Dam on the Yangtze River is the biggest hydroelectric power station in the world.

Why was the Yangtze mad at the two bridges? It was double-crossed.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
The Yangtze River is known by several different names as it flows for thousands of kilometers through the different regions of China. Some of its local names include Dangqu River, Toutou River, Tongtian River and Jinsha River. The name Yangzi originally referred only to the lower Yangtze River.

CRY ME A RIVER
Can you help these ducks get to their mom?

GO WITH THE FLOW
The Yangtze River begins as meltwater from a glacier located in the Tanggula mountains. Ocean vessels are able to navigate nearly 1,600 km (1,000 mi.) up the Yangtze River. The Yangtze River is one of the busiest waterways in the world. The Yangtze River is fed by more than 700 tributaries.
